RE-OPENING OF SCHOOLS.—The Government chools are to be opened on Wednesday next. The precautions to be taken to avoid contagion among the scholars are specified in the advertisement of the Board of Education, Seventh Year of OUR Reign. published in our "by authority" column. The information contained in the account given in last week's ADVERTISER, of the trotting race which came off on the 30th April, was incomplete. The four horses which were advertised to run had all been duly entered some five weeks previously, and a forfeit of $50 each was not run because he hurt his foot the day before the race. Butcher Boy was entered without his owner's knowledge and the latter declined to allow him to run, but the forfeit was nevertheless

The following appears in the Kuokoa, of Saturday last. "After the publication in our issue of last Saturday, of the article relating to a doctor charging poor people exorbitant fees for vaccination, we were interviewed by one of the Board Health physicians, and he informed us that we were mistaken in the article published. He said that the doctor of the Board of Health was paid by the Government while he was employed in the Government dispensary, and not for any other time; so that the charges made on those that applied at the doctor's own office were proper. But we are glad to inform the public that some friends are persevering earnestly to vaccipate those that have neglected vaccination."

A WICKED DESIGN. -Some miscreant with in cendiary design, stepped from the billiard room of Hart Bros' Restaurant on Hotel Street, on Wednesday night, entered the ladies and gentlemen's dining rooms and set fire to one of the table cloths on a table which stood close against the partition adjoining. Just previous to the hour of closing (10 o'clock) Mr. Hart saw smoke coming from the direction indicated, and on going there saw to his amazement that the into the table wood-work and cornice of the partition, which in a short time would have made sad havoc, and probably a destructive conflagration. No clew to the would-be incendiary is known. This is the third attempt made to set fire to that establishment.

Messrs. Sin Chong & Co., who became guarantors to the Government, in respect of the expenses incurred by the latter on account of the passengers ex Mei Foo, have received a bill the cost of medical inspection from day to day, from the Board of Health, of which the following and of guards to prevent the passengers break-

Messrs. Sin Chong & Co., having already paid out nearly $12,000 for the maintenance of the Mei Foo's people, appear to have been somewhat taken aback when they received this bill. They disputed its correctness, and the matter is to be adjusted by the intervention of the Supreme

George Luproil who had proved himself somewhat expert as a detective in opium cases and breaches of the Liquor Laws, seems to have been carried away by too much success and to have got himself into trouble all round. He was prosecuted last week, for assault and battery on Yim Yam; sued last Tuesday, by Apaii, for damages, for illegally entering his premises; and prosecuted the same day, for an assault on J. Van Zant. He was fined $5, with $3.40 costs, in the first case, and mulcted in $10 damages and $6,30 costs in the second. Last week, also his badge was taken from him, leaving him no longer able to proclaim himself a policemana title he seems to have been rather proud of. These accumulated mischances would perhaps have made any ordinary mortal a sadder as well as a wiser man, but Luproil's genius rose to the occasion. By all accounts, instead of repinhilarity known as "laughing in one's sleeve," having stowed himself away on the City of Sydney, and left the country, without the formality of obtaining a passport.

truding himself on to the ship. One reason of Captain Dearborn's reluctance to take passengers was the fact that there was no proper accommodation that on looking into the matter again he will be tion for them, the ship being already crowded. | convinced that we did not do so.

The race is to be mile heats, best three in five, for a Purse of $200. There will be also a running race between Venus and Hannah, one mile dash for a purse of $100.

The Montague-Turner English Opera Company have been playing at the Gaiety Theatre in Sydney. The Morning Herald of that city speaking of their appearance in the "Bohe mian Girl" says ; "The enthusiastic reception accorded last evening to Mr. Charles Turner a Thaddeus and Miss Annis Montague as Arline, must have been exceedingly gratifying to thos talented artists, considering that they have only appeared on two or three occasions before Sydney performances in terms of unqualified praise. It is reported that giant powder is being largely used for fishing purposes by natives and some foreigners on the east coast of Maui. Th Deputy Sheriff of Makawao has been endeavoring to bring some of the offenders to justice but has hitherto been baffled in his efforts. In other parts of the island the authorities and police have been supine in the matter, and as natural consequence, are accused by the populace of complicity in this illegal practice.

CRICKET .- Another match between the Senic and Juniors of the Honolulu Cricket Club, ha been arranged for to-day. On the 4th inst. this Club held its monthly meeting, the Pres dent, Major Wodehouse in the Chair. The at tendance was better than usual, but not what i should have been, constdering the special sumnons issued to members. The Rules as drafted by the Vice President and late Hon'y Sec'y (Messrs. Webb and Luce) were again considered. After several amendments had been made, they were, with some further rules suggested by Mr. Bickerton and Mr. Tucker, unanimously adopted.

Another case of assault on a wife, arising paid by the owners of King William and Butcher | out of jealousy, came before the Police Justice Boy, being the penalty agreed upon in case of on Wednesday. Ah Lee says his wife went off any horse being scratched. King William did to Koolau and staid away a week without his leave, and that she says she wants to leave him and go and live with a young fellow of eighteen, with whom she is smitten. He feels that it is hard under such circumstances that such a mild paid, making up the actual stakes run for to form of expostulation as seizing her by the throat with one hand, whilst he brandished with the other a knife with which he threatened to kill her, should be looked upon as an offense. He is to be allowed three months, under Mr. Fyfe's care, in which to reflect on the circum

In the case of H. A. P. Carter, Minister of the Interior and President of the Board of Health, vs. Hackfield & Co., in respect of the bond given by the latter when the Septima left this port, the judgment of the Court was that ing bounds, was legally chargeable under the bond as part of the cost of "caring for" the men. But the Court, without explanation, gave a judgment for $1,393, instead of $2,160 and interest, which was claimed by the plaintiff. This judgment appears to have been founded on a compromise between the parties, under which the Government took over the buildings erected on the reef by the agents of the Septima as representing $1,005. The reductions in their charges submitted to by the Government appear to have been as follows: Dr. Hutchinson's services, $350; reduced to $150; 3 boats and men. 21 days and nights, $504; reduced to $252; services of guards reduced by $315. The differ-Court. The ease may probably be heard next ence between $1,005 and the amount of the judgment, viz: $388, was paid into Court at the outset of the case, and represented the charge for smallpox patients treated at the hospital. The latter charge is at the rate of $3 per day for each man; a hospital charge unexampled, probably, in the history of the world. If this be the average cost of all the patients that have been treated there at the expense of the state, the excess of expenditure over the appropriation for the Board of Health will reach an alarm-We interviewed the Deputy Attorney Ameer's Government. General, Mr. W. O. Smith, on the subject of difficulties alleged to stand in the way of obtaining an investigation in open court of complaints against policemen. The Gazette, on the authority of Mr. Smith himself, says we have been guilty of misrepresenting what passed at that interview and proceeds to give another version. The accusation is rather hasty. We ing, he is now indulging in that curious form of repeat the two versions side by side, and shall be glad to have the misrepresentation pointed The Advertiser's Version. The Gazette's Version.

FRIDAY, May 13th. Below we give a list of the new cases re ported at the Police Station since the time to which that given in last week's ADVER-TISER extends. There were two cases on the 6th inst. in addition to those we reported. Although several cases were discovered on Sunday and Monday, there have been so few since then that there is much reason to hope that the epidemic is now dving out. The improved state of affairs has led the Board of Education to announce that the Government Schools throughout the district will be re-opened on Wednesday next. Pressure is also being brought to bear on members of the Board of Health to have the inter-island traffic set free again. Warrants have just been issued against no less than seventeen persons for concealing cases of small-pox. The list of offenders includes both Hawaiians and Chinese. We are glad to note this vigilance on the part of the police authorities.

The wife of George Kanuha (commonly known as Big Dan) residing in Merchant street, died of small-pox, on Thursday night at a house near Kawaihao. It is stated that she had been ill for eight days with fully developed symptoms of this disease. Unfortunately this is but one out of a great number of similar cases of concealment with fatal results. The dead body of this woman was carried by her friends to her husband's house before the police had notice of her death.

NEW YORK, April 23 .- Advices from the of Mexico say: The alleged friendship bets. Grant and Diaz is injuring the latter here, without benefitting the former. Many worthy people give credence to a story put about in the old conservative" circles that Grant has come here in pursuance of an agreement with Diaz that he will take a kind of protectorate, to be supported by the United States Government. The story, absurd as it is, has been circulated by people of influence, and in connection with gaged extensively in railway speculations, it is working mischief. Grant laughs at it, and he will doubtless take an early and conspicuous pportunity to make an end of it publicly SYDNEY, April 25th .- The recent influx of Chinese into Australian ports is causing considerable excitement, especially in New South Wales. On a vessel which arrived at Cooktown on 23d ult, a case of small-pox was discovered. The miners employed in the Newcastle colleries have made arrangements for holding a mass meeting for the purpose of considering the Chinese immigration, and the employment of Chinese as laborers in the coal mines.

more so than about the generation that has risen. Being young myself, sympathy and inclination lead me to look up our youth. And although I am high-toned, and occupy a lofty position of respectability, and of political and social influence; yet I do not propose in dealing with young men to moralize, or to scold, but to discuss some experiences that may be a guide to inexperienced feet, and an admonition to those who have served as guides.

There is a cosy room in town, just a short walk distant from the Post Office, where a certain sociability is on hand every evening. In this retreat, which is guarded from intrusion, in consequence of the blind side of official vigilance being always turned that way, there assembles a jorum of genial minds; or free souls liberated from conventionalities; and of free and easys, who are always willing to go you something better, and who are ready to "buck the tiger" with their moderate pile. The jingling of the coin and the rustling shuffle of the deal go on every night, whilst the effulgent moon, and the twinkling stars pursue their

I look in once in a while, and sometimes venture a V on a hand, as I graduated on the Mississipi. The other evening I noticed a peculiar twinkle of satisfaction in the dealer's grey eye, as with compressed lips and a high-toned exession of dignity and indifference he raked in a recently won pool of "dums;" and at the same time I observed a telegraphing vis a vis, with a straw tile on his head, pitched downward in front at an angle of forty-five; whilst a long nine cheroot was pitched upward at a similar angle, exchange glances of highly congratulatory significance with the dealer. Then, as I looked around farther, I observed a stray pigeon at the board, who was evidently undergoing a thorough process of plucking. It was young Marigold, clerk for Bounce &

He bewailed his case; had lost an amount needed for remittance next steamer ; and would be behindhand with his board bill, and entreated me to help him make another trial; but I kept on unanswering till we reached the Esplanade, and we sat down upon a lumber pile. He and I had had some turns together, and that is why he

"Now, Mary," said I, (calling him that for short, and liking the name so much, being that of a girl, who used to climb a thick leaved cherry tree with me, in cherry time, and we would sit up there together for hours without eating a cherry, unless one bit one away from between the other one's teeth. Ah! I could tell you something about that, but another time.) "Now, Mary," I said, "what could lead you into such a crib. I want to help you, but won't help you to dump dimes for those fellows to rake up. Meanwhile the consternation amongst those who had heard of the Captain's refusal to take passengers was great, and it is to be feared that "strong expressions" in several different languages, were rather freely indulged in. It was very hot and tiresome work kicking one's whilst the Captain was coming to a decision. and it is not easy to understand why the comparatively small number of people (which included some ladies) who were seeking admission.
